

The trainings help to generate awareness, acceptance, and show that special needs people are loved; God created them that way; They can do anything with encouragement and support from their people; To watch them blossom and grow, is very heartfelt and warming; It's wonderful to know that there is training out there to help people to understand what special needs means and how many are out there. The training that we did I even learned more than what I thought I already knew, it opened my eyes that we need more awareness, it would be great if there were more trainings out there to help those who need it and to understand.

For me and my husband we are not ashamed of our 2 special needs boys we are amazed by them for what they can do, for what they can understand and even they have goals that we try and help them reach. The minds of these special people can even teach us if we just listen and willing to learn from them.
